Overview

Delaware Code, Title 14, §1066A(b) requires the State Election Commissioner to reapportion the Nominating Districts in the Brandywine, Christina, Colonial and Red Clay Consolidated School Districts before January 1, 2012.

The commissioner decided to use the same +/- 5% threshold used by the House and Senate in determining the size of the Nominating Districts. It was found that:

- The population of all of the Brandywine School District Nominating Districts are within the +/- 5% threshold and do not need to be adjusted.
- Many of the Nominating Districts in the other School Districts exceed the threshold and some or all of the boundaries of the Nominating Districts in those School Districts would have to be redrawn.

The Nominating Districts have been redrawn and all are within the +/- 5% threshold. All School Board members live within the boundaries of their proposed districts, and there was no need to adjust the sequence of School Board Elections for any School District. The schedule of School Board Elections for 2012 through 2021 is included for each School District.

An overview map and maps of individual Nominating Districts are provided in separate School District Specific documents.

School Districts in New Castle County

The charts on the next page show the 2000 and 2010 Census data for the school districts that must be reapportioned in accordance with Delaware Code, Title 14, §1066A (b).

Data for the Appoquinimink and Smyrna School Districts is not included because the Delaware Code does not require them to be reapportioned.
